Forecast For East of England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Friday 26 Mar 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
A cold and breezy night. Plenty of sunshine on Saturday.

This Evening and Tonight:
A breezy evening with a few blustery showers. These will become few and far between later in the night, with clear spells becoming more prolonged around dawn and a chance of frost in places. Minimum temperature 0 deg C (32 deg F).

Saturday:
A fine and dry day overall, with perhaps the odd morning shower in Norfolk. Plenty of sunshine though increasingly hazy during the afternoon. Breezy with more cloud later. Maximum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Windy, largely dry but dull on Sunday morning, brighter in the afternoon. Dry with lighter winds and sunny periods Monday and Tuesday. Feeling very pleasant, locally warm, in the sunshine.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.